

Try, Test and Learn Fund

Initiative: The Australian Way

Location: New South Wales and Victoria

What are we trying to achieve?

This initiative will test whether an app-based approach can support the orientation employment module of the Humanitarian Settlement Program to improve work readiness and employment outcomes for humanitarian entrants.

What is The Australian Way?

Participants will complete the orientation employment module of the Humanitarian Settlement Program using an app to support their learning. This element provides information about Australian workplace culture and expectations, and how to prepare for and look for a job.

Information will be provided through animated storytelling in English and four other languages in the app and in hard copy. The app will also help participants to prepare resumes and applications, access other job-seeking support and attend English language classes.

What does the evidence tell us?

- While many migrants and refugees successfully gain employment within the first few years of arrival, a small group continue to struggle and is at elevated risk of long-term welfare dependence.
- On average, migrants and refugees who currently receive income support are likely to receive income support payments in 30 years over their future lifetime.
- If nothing changes, 56 per cent of this group will be receiving income support payments in 10 years, and 52 per cent will be receiving income support payments in 20 years.

How is this initiative new and innovative?

This is the first time that an app of this nature has been trialled or delivered for migrants and refugees in Australia.

Fast facts

Priority group: Migrants and refugees

Participant numbers: 500

Locations: NSW and VIC

Trial period: 16 months

Total funding: $1.2 million

Service provider: Our HR Company

Potential future saving: If around two per cent of participants move off income support because of this project, the savings to the welfare system are likely to outweigh the costs of the project.

Using insights from the Priority Investment Approach, the $96.1 million Try, Test and Learn Fund is gathering evidence on new or innovative approaches to addressing barriers to work.

The Try, Test and Learn Fund will help achieve the objectives of welfare reform—that is, to develop a modern welfare system that increases the capacity of individuals, reduces the risk of welfare dependency and maintains a strong welfare safety net.
