How to acknowledge DSS and the relevant Survey Contract Managers in all research material

The Commonwealth owns all intellectual property rights in the data. Under the deeds and MOU, both Organisations and researchers have agreed to acknowledge DSS and the relevant Survey Contract Managers in all their research material.

If you have used HILDA data in your research, you must include the following paragraph or a similar paragraph that has been approved in writing by DSS:

'This paper uses unit record data from the Household, Income and Labour Dynamics in Australia (HILDA) Survey. The HILDA Project was initiated and is funded by the Australian Government Department of Social Services (DSS) and is managed by the Melbourne Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research (Melbourne Institute). The findings and views reported in this paper, however, are those of the author and should not be attributed to either DSS or the Melbourne Institute.'

If you have used LSAC data in your research, you must include the following paragraph or a similar paragraph that has been approved in writing by DSS:

'This paper uses unit record data from Growing Up in Australia, the Longitudinal Study of Australian Children. The study is conducted in partnership between the Department of Social Services (DSS), the Australian Institute of Family Studies (AIFS) and the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS). The findings and views reported in this paper are those of the author and should not be attributed to DSS, AIFS or the ABS.'

If you have used LSIC data in your research, you must include the following paragraph or a similar paragraph that has been approved in writing by DSS:

'This paper uses unit record data from the Longitudinal Study of Indigenous Children (LSIC). LSIC was initiated and is funded and managed by the Australian Government Department of Social Services (DSS). The findings and views reported in this paper, however, are those of the author and should not be attributed to DSS or the Indigenous people and their communities involved in the study.'

If you have used BNLA data in your research, you must include the following paragraph or a similar paragraph that has been approved in writing by DSS:

'This paper uses unit record data from the Building a New Life in Australia (BNLA). The study is conducted in partnership between the Department of Social Services (DSS) and the Australian Institute of Family Studies (AIFS). The findings and views reported in this paper, however, are those of the author and should not be attributed to DSS or AIFS.'

If you use data from more than one of the surveys, relevant acknowledgements must be included either separately or in a combined version. Note that the word 'paper' may be changed to better describe the research. If you wish to use other different wording, you must seek prior written approval from DSS.
