

Supported Accommodation Innovation Fund
(SAIF)
Application Guidelines

Purpose of the Application Guidelines

The following guidelines are aimed at organisations who are interested in applying for capital grant funding through the Supported Accommodation Innovation Fund (SAIF). More information about SAIF is available on the Department of Families, Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs (FaHCSIA) website www.fahcsia.gov.au along with the full suite of application materials.

Please note: Applicants are strongly advised to read the following guidelines prior to submitting an application and to refer to them when completing the questions in the MS Excel and MS Word parts of the Application Form.

General information for Applicants

- The Application Form

There are two (2) parts to the Application Form. Questions which require very short responses or numeric responses are included in the Excel part of the form. Questions that require longer text based responses are included in the Word part of the form. The reason for providing two parts is that Excel allows data for multiple supported accommodation or respite places to be input into the one document, rather than requiring applicants to complete multiple Word based forms.

Applicants are advised that they will require basic Excel skills (as a minimum) to complete this application form. If you experience any difficulties please contact the SAIF Helpdesk at saif@fahcsia.gov.au.

- Supporting documentation and references

Please do not attach supporting documentation (e.g. OH&S policy) to your application unless it has specifically been requested in the Application Form or Program Guidelines Part C.

- FaHCSIA will only assess attachments that have been requested.

Instead of attaching the document, you are advised to summarise how a particular policy or document supports your response. For example:

“We have developed a Program Management Framework. This framework provides an agreed structure, control processes and templates to guide our program management.”

You are encouraged to provide evidence to support your claims, particularly where you plan to undertake a new or innovative method. Be sure to explain how the particular evidence supports your method. You do not need to provide an exhaustive review of the literature – focusing on one or more key studies or findings which support your main ideas may be sufficient. References can be provided as footnotes or on a separate reference list attached to your application.

- Responding to selection criteria and word limits

The nine (9) technical selection criteria are included in the Application Form (either in the Excel or Word parts). Applicants should simply answer all questions in the Application Form and do not need to submit a separate statement against the selection criteria.

Word limits do not apply, however applicants are advised to answer each question clearly and succinctly. Concise applications will be well regarded. Dot points and graphical documents may assist in conveying your message succinctly and effectively.

Text responses will be assessed on the quality and the relevance of the information provided and how well applicants have demonstrated that they meet the criteria.

How to use these Application Guidelines

As a first step, applicants should review the documentation for SAIF available on the FaHCSIA website, including the Program Guidelines suite. Part C of the Program Guidelines provides essential information about submitting an application and should be read in conjunction with these Application Guidelines.

The following guidelines will assist you to work through each of the questions on the Application Form starting with the Excel based questions and moving on to the Word based questions. At the end of this document you will find a checklist which will help you to complete your final application.

What to do if you have questions or need assistance

Questions and issues can be raised via the SAIF online forum at <http://saif.govspace.gov.au>. Applicants are advised to regularly review the online forum for updates and responses to questions raised.

If you experience technical issues you should email the SAIF Helpdesk at saif@fahcsia.gov.au.

Completing Questions in the Excel Application Form

When you open the Excel form you will see two worksheet tabs at the bottom of the page:

- Section 1 – SAIF Project; and
- Section 2 – SAIF Places.

The worksheets refer to the level at which the data will be collected i.e. the overall project level or the individual supported accommodation place.

Guidance tables

The tables below provide guidance notes to assist you to complete each question in the Application Form. Column one of the tables relates directly to the Application Form, either the Excel part of the Word part. If the question has been taken from the selection criteria then the reference will be included in the second column of the table below.

Information use

Please read the information at the top of the form about how FaHCSIA may use the information you provide in your application. Select a response in the appropriate box using the drop-down list provided.

END OF SECTION TWO – PLEASE MOVE TO THE WORD APPLICATION FORM

Word Application Form

Form Reference	Selection Criteria Reference	Question	Guidance notes for applicants
Innovation and overall project quality - The following information will be sought and used in conjunction with all other assessable information to assess the project's innovation. Guidance notes are aimed at helping you to put together an overall story however how you choose to approach each particular question is up to you.
109	9	Please provide an executive summary of your project.	This is an opportunity to provide a brief overarching summary of the key elements of your project.
110	9	If the construction activity type is renovation, provide a detailed description of the scope of works for your renovation. Include details such as works completed in the kitchen and bathrooms and where additional rooms or spaces will be added. Provide a brief description of the work to be completed by each key trade e.g. electrical - complete upgrade of power box and wiring to building including completely new fixtures throughout.
111	9a	Define the aims of your SAIF proposal.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Your model's aims are the basis of its innovation. Innovation could be summarised as a three step process, beginning with the identification of a problem or unsatisfactory situation, followed by a change, which results in a positive improvement to the original problem or situation. This positive improvement is the aim of innovation. • The aims of your model should reflect your organisation's values, and the broader values of the disability sector. • In this part of the criterion, define what the aims of your model are. They may be expressed as improved outcomes for residents, their carers, your organisation, the community, the relevant state or territory government, the Commonwealth government, or any other relevant stakeholder. • Your aims may also address non-stakeholder issues, such as features of the building, client service models, partnership arrangements, financial structures or sector-wide improvements. • You will probably have a number of aims. • Your aims will act as reference points for future measurement and evaluation of the model (this is discussed elsewhere in this criterion). They should be realistic, measurable and achievable.

112	9b	Explain how the idea for your proposal's model was developed.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In this part of the criterion, explain the process that led to your proposed model. This would probably involve a substantial range of organisational experiences, including both successes and failures. • Show the development of the idea chronologically if that is appropriate. Your proposal may have began as an idea that arose out of another project, which was then developed through further research and planning, leading to sourcing of funds for construction. • Alternatively, your model may have arisen from your organisation's broader experience in delivering supported accommodation services to people with disability, or other services to clients with similar levels of need. • In either case, please demonstrate the origins and development of each of the innovative ideas in your model. • Experiences described may be either positive or negative. Your model may build on a good idea which led to positive outcomes, or may correct a bad idea that caused negative outcomes. Note what your organisation learned from each of these experiences. • The experiences you describe may be those of your own organisation. Alternatively, they may be from other sources, such as your partner organisations, individuals that have approached your organisation, overseas projects, state or territory government projects or sector professional discussions or academic literature. • Importantly, you need to demonstrate how each of the ideas you describe are reflected in your model. You need to show the actions you intend to take to build on/correct past experiences.
113	9c	Explain how your proposal's model is different to established models.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Compare your proposed model to established models and demonstrate how your new model is distinctive. You need to show what is new or different about your model in order to demonstrate that it is innovative. • You should discuss your organisation's previously used models and how your proposed model differs from what your organisation has done in the past. • You should also discuss the models used elsewhere in the sector. This may be to show a difference between your model and other models of supported accommodation for people with disability, or to show how you intend to transpose a successful model from another housing sector to the disability housing context. • You should make mention of the anti-institutional features of your model, as you described elsewhere in your application.

114	9d	Detail the evidence you used in developing your proposal's model.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Describe all the sources of information you used in the development of your model. This evidence base may include the academic literature, consultations with stakeholders, statistical research or observations of existing supported accommodation services. • You need to explain clearly how this information was gathered, as well as justifying the value of each source and explaining why you chose to use each source. • Show how you used each information source and the relative importance of each to your model's development. • Also describe the time context of your evidence base (such as when you conducted surveys, over how long a period you have been collecting data, how frequently you consult with stakeholders, etc.)
115	9e	Explain how your proposal's model is expected to lead to improved outcomes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • This part of the criterion is seeking an explanation of why you think your model will lead to better outcomes, and will help you to reach your aims. • You need to provide a rationale for how your model will achieve the aims you have set out. As such, you should refer to your aims. • You should describe your rationale in terms of outcomes for the groups or areas you mentioned in your aims. • You should draw on the evidence bases you have described in other parts of the criterion where appropriate. • You also need to show your strategies for ensuring your model can continue to be delivered (i.e. sustainment of the service delivery) and progress can continue being made toward the achievement of your aims. You should frame this in terms of the adaptability and resilience of your model in face of future positive and negative changes which may effect the continued delivery of the project you propose.

116	9f	Explain how your organisation will evaluate and share information about the implementation and outcomes of your proposal.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • This part of the criterion addresses the ‘experimental’ nature of SAIF. It seeks information on how you plan to share information about the successes and shortcomings of your model, so that sector practices may be improved or changed on a wide basis. • It has two major aspects: the collection and analysis of information, and the communication of this information for potential sector-wide benefit. • Detail how you will measure progress toward the stated aims and expected outcomes of your model and evaluate the implementation of the project. • Describe any research linkages you have or may be able to create (such as with universities or policy research bodies). • Show how your model should contribute to the body of knowledge surrounding supported accommodation for people with disability. • Show how your model should contribute to systemic change in the delivery of supported accommodation for people with disability. • Detail how you will continue to develop the model in future projects. • Describe your strategies for communicating the findings of your analysis and evaluation work. You should plan to use a comprehensive suite of ideas to ensure your findings are communicated for maximum benefit to the sector.
117	9	Will the Supported Accommodation be part of a mixed development?	If Yes please provide a description of the development and how the supported accommodation will be incorporated.
Support service - The following information will be sought to allow assessment of the quality of support services.
118	5a	Explain how the delivery of housing services and support services will be separated in practice.	For example, housing and support services could be : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Delivered by two separate legal entities (e.g. a registered housing association and a disability support provider). • Delivered by separate divisions of a single legal entity who have in place separate governance arrangements and complaints mechanisms. • Completely individualised (e.g. portable individualised funding package available); or • Delivered via a different and potentially innovative model which clearly demonstrates a separation of responsibility and provides individual choice with respect to living and support arrangements.

119	5b	Demonstrate how you will co-ordinate and manage the housing and support components to ensure continuity of service for residents.	You should identify the mechanisms and processes that will be put in place to identify and manage issues, and to ensure that residents will continue to receive appropriate housing and support services. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An MoU exists between the two providers which outlines individual responsibilities and what happens if a dispute arises etc. • Dispute resolution procedures/risk management procedures/complaints management processes are in place. • Strategies are in place to ensure that residents do not get left without an appropriate service.
120	5c	Justify your approach to the delivery of housing and support services, including how you will ensure that individuals have choice with respect to housing and support services and that any one organisation will not have an unreasonable influence on an individual's life.
121	6a	Describe the supports that will be available to residents and how support services will be delivered.	You should consider the following in your response: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What are the goals/values underpinning your support service delivery model? • What supports will be available? When and how often? • Will residents have access to appropriate professional assistance if required? (e.g. allied health professionals etc) • Who will provide the support? (e.g. trained support worker, volunteers, agency staff, informal supports etc) • How flexible is the support model? • Will individuals have an opportunity to choose their support provider? • How will the support model meet the needs of the target group? • Is the level and type of support available appropriate to the needs of the target group?
122	NA	Describe how you will select residents for the accommodation.
